

Oregon & SW Washington More Than Pink Walk Scavenger Hunt

Use this photo scavenger hunt to guide you as you walk through the zoo. Take a picture with each animal, and share on social media with the hashtag #PDXMTPW

- Orangutans love their moms! The young stay with their mama's until they are 7 years old. Give your own mama some love while viewing the orangutans!
- Women who get regular exercise have about 10%-20% lower risk of breast cancer. Swimming is a great form of exercise. Visit the Juno the Sea Otter to get some pointers!
- Many of us have experienced the impact of losing someone to breast cancer. While we don't know how Timber and Thorn the grizzly lost their mother, they have also dealt with grief. Give them some love and let's honor our missing loved ones together.
- Flamingos get their pink color from eating shrimp! Who wore it better, the Lesser flamingos or you?!
- Komen's 360-degree approach drives research, provides care, unifies community, and takes action. Each of these core pillars has a color to represent them. Can you find the four animals that are housed around the zoo that share these colors?

Green - Wood Duck

Blue - Coho Salmon

Purple - Lamprey

Orange - Straw Colored Fruit Bat
