

Seattle

More Than Pink Walk

Scavenger Hunt

Use this photo scavenger hunt to guide you as you walk through the zoo. Take a picture with each animal, and share on social media with the hashtag #SEAMTPW

- Many of us have experienced the impact of losing someone to breast cancer. While we don't know how Juniper the grizzly lost her mother, she has also dealt with grief. Give her some love and let's honor our missing loved ones together.
- Orangutans love their moms! The young stay with their mama's until they are 7 years old. Give your own mama some love while viewing the orangutans!
- Flamingos get their pink color from eating shrimp! Who wore it better, the flamingos or you?!
- Women who get regular exercise have about 10%-20% lower risk of breast cancer. Swimming is a great form of exercise. Visit Sotong, the Asian Small-Clawed Otter to get some pointers!
- Komen's 360-degree approach drives research, provides care, unifies community, and takes action. Each of these core pillars has a color to represent them. Can you find the four birds that are housed around the zoo that share these colors?

Green - Nicobar Pigeon

Blue - Puna Teal

Purple - Edward's Pheasant

Orange - Male Andean Cock-of-the-Rock